

In the Specification:

Please replace the abstract with the following replacement abstract.

ABSTRACT

A method for preventing the loss of drilling fluid from the well bore and into fractures, regions or high porosity, or the like which may be found in the rock formation being drilled.

Coconut coir is added to the drilling fluid as a lost circulation material.